POLITICIANS ON WAY TO JEFFERSON CITY

50 Couch Covers, were $1.50, now ...

Many Members of the General Assembly Spend the Day in Rubey for President pro tem, against Far-ria, Senator David Nelson and John P. Col-lins of St. Louis were also at the Luclede cetting acquainted with the visiting mem-bers of the upper branch.

WHITECOTTON OUTLINES PLANS. Senator John Morton of Richmond de-clared that he was taking no part in the Lee-Parris controversy, and until the time came for voting he would remain absolutely neutral. Among some of the knowing poli-ticians it is predicted that Farris and Roach may not enter the caucus for nomination, but will withdraw, leaving a clear field for Rubey and Combs. No official announcement to this effect has been made, and until one is sent forth, it is undergrood that the two men are in the race.

Speaker Whitecotton spent the day at the Laclede. As has been before announced, he Laclede. As has been before announced, he is confident of re-election to his present position. "The first ballot will settle the question," he said to his friends. "And when I am once elected the business of the session will move mere rapidly than ever before. There will be no delay in transacting business if I can help it. The seventy days which the Constitution provides shall be counted as "35 per" days will be shortened considerably. I think that the mem-bers are with me on this proposition. "If I am elected, and as soon as I am sworn in, I shall announce a number of the es. The first one to be named will be the Elections Committee. I think that I shall name a St. Louis man for that place. There are several contests to come up be fore this committee, and I intend to have fore this committee, and I intend to have the best sort of men to pass on the quali-factions of contexturts. I am going back to Monroe City to-night, and will finish some legal business there before going to Juliarson City Tuesday."

instructions, but he teld them that unless a they had a majority of the Democrate he would stand pat.

A delegation from Kansas City came down to "see things" preparatory to going to Jefferson City. Among them were Arthur Khapman, C. D. Dolan and M. E. Casey, John. T. Crisp was not among the number. He has been sick for several days.

There is much speculation regarding the stand which Colonel Crisp will take on the fighastor, Chief Clerk of the House. Both Bayma and Tall have been counting on his support, and their friends show letters in dicaung the falth which is in them. As the betters sound alike, excepting in so far as the names are concerned, it seems to be a fair-guess either way.

Senator James Orchard of West Plains, who went down to defeat in the Twenty-second District, was around the Laclede, He is trying to boost Frank Farris. Mr. Fianagan, nevertheless and notwithstanding, whi spend a few days in Jefferson City before returning to Carthage.

Among the other Republicans who were in evidence were Representatives Britain and Tracey of Greene County, who arrived on the same train with Senator McDavid. Judge O. L. Haydon of West Plains spent the day at Republican State headquarters, thus showing his prediction for Charles Nagel against R. C. Kerena, Representative Dorah E. Billings of Christian Cnunty also spent the day in the city.

Testerday was field day for the State posticions. The corridors of the hotels, estimated to the logistature, was one of the prominent figures. The clergy are also in the political swim, and swimming hard, several of them, to be honored by the £ a day accorded the chaplain of the Heuse. Several of the Representatives say that they have received no less than a dozen letters from as many aspirants for the place, shepherding the General Assembly. Of these four, it seems, have become prominent. They are the Reverend Clayton Brooks of Jefferson City, the Reverend James A. Russell of Lutesvilles, Mo.; the Reverend Doctor Poole of Moberly and the Reverend T. J. Puckett of Bates County. greatest honor which could be bestowed upon him.

J. W. Farley, Representative, came from the Kansas border to attend the preliminary jockeying of the Legislators in St. Louis. His constituency is in Plant County, and he is taking much inte est in the races for House positions. He admits that "it's all Whitecotton"; avers hat "it's all Stone," but maintains a discret silence on all other points. He will present one bill, which was suggested to him by he conditions in the Kansas prison across the Missouri River from his home. This is the manufacture of twine in the State Penitentiary to overcome the monopoly exercised by the twine trust. He claims that the minufacture of convict twine in Kansas and Hinnerota has been a distinct advantage to the agricultural counters.

Hepresentative White of Memphis, Mo., was to be found at the Lackede, watching the progress of events and indulging in many a corner conference with candidates or legislators. He is interested in a bill affecting the insurance laws of the State. His accusation is that the insurance-company rates are too high, and that agents are often identified with the customer against the company, so that the latter can overinsure and the agent share in the "profit" when a fire develops. Mr. Witte wants the regulations binding the agent more stringent.

The St. Louis Representatives were much in evidence at the Leckede during the afternoon. Those seen were Sartorius. Luig. Kronk and O'Donnell. They maintained that no enucuses involving city and out-oftown delegations were in prospect, though it is said that some general meeting, at which some understanding in regard to the various places to be filled will be reached, is to take place to-day.

GANTT MENTIONED FOR SENATOR. Not the least interesting of the gossip which floated around the hotels was that the friends of Justice John A. Gantt of Clinton were considering the advisability of springing him as a candidate for United States Senator.

The Reverend J. H. Jarrett of No. 1436 O'Fallon street, who until recently had charge of the negro Baptist congregation charge of the negro Baptist congregation which meets at Thirteenth and Biddle streets, was fined $10 in the Dayton Street Police Court yesterday for disturbing the peace of some of his former parishioners.

According to the evidence, he was recently removed as pastor and a younger man appointed to act in his place. December 18, while the congregation was waiting for the new minister to arrive to conduct service, hymns were being sing. A young negro woman was playing an accompaniment on the organ.

Jairett entered the meeting-room and ordered the woman to leave the instrument, and when she did not, struck her, it was stated.

Members of the congregation interfered Members of the congregation interfered and a fight ensued. The minister received a blow on one of his eyes. He inflicted severe punishment on several of the members of the congregation, male and female. He told Judge Tracy that he struck a head wherever he saw it. When he appeared in court yesterday his eye was so badly swollen that he could not open it.

Mrs. Amanda Coleman Seeks Boy Drowned Two Years Ago.

Mrs. Amanda Coleman of Huntsdale Boone County, Mo., has been searching the records of all the counties along the northern shore of the Missouri River in this State for the last two years to see if her son's body has been found. He was drowned June 10, 1900, and since He was drowned June 10, 1900, and since then her quest has been in vain. Yesterday she wrote to Circuit Clerk Hollocher in Clayton, stating that she would now begin to scarch the records of the counties on the southern side of the river, as she thinks the body was probably washed ashore, found by the Coroner, buried and marked on the unidentified list.

Hollocher will turn the letter over to the Coroner, as he does not know personally of any unidentified bodies having been found.

Runsar City, Mo. Jan. 3.—Joseph W. Hrdiacka lermerly of St. Louis, a deserter from the United States army, was taken to the Leavenworth Penitentiary to-day from here.

Seven years ago Hrdlicka was a well-to-do planner in St. Louis, and was happy with his wife and lattle girl. In the tornado of 1888 Hrdlicka's wife was killed. He began disting around the country. In 1889 he enlisted at St. Augustine, Fla., in the United States Army. A comrade stole his fatigue cap, Hrdlicka informed against him and had him court-martialed and sentenced to prison. The convicted man was popular, and his comrades for revenge began systematically to persecute Hrdlicka. His life became so unbearable, he says, that two years ago he stole out of camp and became a deserter.

Hrdlicka came to Kansas City and went to work at the plumbing business, and each week sent a part of his wages to his little girl, who lives with her grandparents in St. Louis.

each week sent a part of his wages to his little girk, who lives with her grandparents in St. Louis.

William Rybarger, one of the artillerymen of Hrdficka's company, was recently honorably discharged. He came to Kansas City to look for work. At 5 o'clock hast night he was walking down Main street, when he saw Hrdlicka with a kit of plumters tools upon his shoulder.

The cid hatred came back to him. He saw him go into Corcoran bow's plumble shop, hurried to the office of the United States Marshal in the Government building and informed upon Hrdlicka. An odicer shortly afterwards arrested Hrdlicka.

His employers said he was an expert and most excellent workman, but Hrdlicka had to go to prison. A Deputy United States Marshal took him to the military prison at Leaverworth. Rybarger went along to see that he was safely locked up.

The Deputy United States Marshal, whose heart was softened toward Hrdlicka, asked of Rybarger:

"Why did you inform against him?"

The response came:

"For revence He sent a commende of mine."

The response came:
"For revenge. He sent a comrade of mine—a good fellow—to prison. Now let him take the same kind of medicine."
Hrdlicka will be court-martialed and probably sentenced to a term at hard labor in the military prison at Fort Leavenworth.

STREET CAR'S STRENUOUS TRIP

Easton avenue car No. 918, with Motor man Charles Ebey at the controller and Conductor A. H. Echoff pulling the bell cord, took part in three accidents on one cord, took part in three accidents on one trip Friday afternoon.

At 3 o'clock the car collided with a Suburban car at Garrison and Franklin avenues while on its way downtown. The Suburban car's damage is estimated at $25. No one was hurt.

The trip downtown was made without further mishap, but when westward bound at Ewing and Easton avenues Clarence F. Jones of No. 173 Michigan avenue, in attempting to board it, fell and sustained several brulses.

Continuing the trip the car was making up lost time at Grand and Easton avenues when No. 542 of the Grand avenue division crossed its path and a collision resulted. No person was hurt, and the Easton avenue car, by this time looking like a ship stripped of its riggling, went on to the sheds at Prairie and Easton avenues, where it turned in.
